MEMBERS OF COAL COMMISSION TO BE NAMED TOMORROW

Many Organizations Interested in Personnel of Newly Created Body.

COAL MEN NOT WANTED

But Impression Prevails That at Least One Operator and One Representative of the Miners Have Been Chosen; Hoover Said to Have Sifted.

By GEORGE H. CUSHING.
Special Correspondent of The Courier.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—The President told the reporters yesterday that he will appoint the coal commission on Friday. Since then, everybody has been trying to find out the names of the commissioners. The indications as to the source of those appointments is quite clear.

For example, a lot of industrial and civic organizations have been interfering among themselves of late as to the appointment of this coal commission. They realize that coal is now the battle front on which will be fought many of the issues in which they are vitally interested. If one will look at the situation as they do, it will be understood why they are so much concerned.

Coal has recently been whipped by the union. While it was still down, it was whipped by the politicians. If it ever tries to rise, it will be found that labor will be sitting on one shoulder and politics on the other. It will not have to carry merely the Old Man of the Seas. It will have to carry two of them.

The other business people have seen the railroads ridden by the same pair for the last 15 years. They see coal now saddled with the same burden. They see that it will be their turn next to shoulder the same hideous load. The other business people and the consumers are beginning to have a great deal of sympathy for the coal trade. That is more to the point than the other people are perfectly willing to step into the breach and help coal out of the hole it has dug for itself.

These other people have been writing to each other and to the President. They have suggested that no coal man should be appointed to this commission. They have an idea that it should be a broader decision than a coal man could possibly make. And this is one place where I quite agree with them. A coal man has no business on this commission.

However, just the same and notwithstanding, a coal man will be on the commission. So will a representative of the miners. This will be turned into an attempt at a board of arbitration. And, like all other bodies similarly constituted there will be a "responsible organization" report. The reason for this is that Mr. Hoover is—by these dispatches told the other day—going to appoint the commission. Indeed, he has already done so. It is being done for the purpose of trying to weld the Cleveland conference on a wage scale with the hearings of the commission.

Readers may not catch the full significance of that at once. It gets a heap clearer when it is understood what is now going on in Cleveland. The miners' union turned the tables on the operators when they got to Cleveland. Mr. Lewis told them that they must have a "responsible organization" if they wanted to deal with the miners' union. Thereupon the obedient operators suspended efforts at a joint conference until they could get together in their rooms in the hotel and try to put together some form of a "responsible organization."

The miners have a great federation which announces that it is going to spread itself over the whole of the North American continent. It wants a "responsible" organization of operators to deal with—one that will match it in size and scope. This means that an international organization of operators will be dealing with an international organization of operators.

And, if the two of them ever come to blows, it will be an international strike. That is what England had. That is what caused England all of its troubles. The coal commission, which is to weld with this Cleveland movement, is going to deal with coal on a national and an international scale.

Mr. Hoover, who is going to appoint the commission, is an internationalist who has spent most of his life under the British flag.

Believe me, Isabelle, this situation is becoming intense and very decidedly interesting. It is interesting because, in one corner of 25 standing in the coal industry put it today:

"If coal falls into the trap that is now being set for it, it is the end of the coal industry's independence."

NINE CHURCHES IN BAPTIST ASSOCIATION ARE WITHOUT PASTORS

Rev. O. M. Riley of Fairbairn was elected moderator for the ensuing year. Ernest Overholt of Scotland, treasurer, and Rev. R. B. Dunsmuir of Whiteley, clerk, at the closing meeting of the 90th annual session of the Monongahela Baptist Association on Wednesday at Fairbairn.

Interesting addresses were given and the mission classes conducted by Rev. A. C. Hanna of Burma, India, were especially uplifting. Reports received from the 29 churches showed that the total association offering for the past year for current expenses was $55,355.81 and for the missionary benevolence $23,355.81. The grand total of contributions of all the churches is around the $100,000 mark, while the total Sunday school enrollment is 4,223, with three school reports missing.

The 1923 convention will be held near October 1 in the First Baptist Church of Scotland.

Shawkey and Barnes Pitted In Second Game

By Associated Press.
POLO GROUNDS, Oct. 5.—Robert Shawkey was to face the Giants this afternoon in the second joint of the world series tournament, the National League having won the initial tilt, Jess Barnes, stood ready to take up the burden.

The Giants, coming on the field this afternoon as the visiting club, believe they have the series as good as won. The Yankees threw off the gloves of the first defeat and hoped to emerge from the batting slump that gripped them during the last five games of the American League season. Manager Huggins brought his men on the field early and put them through a stiff batting practice.

October had resurrected a day from July's hot wave and another sunny afternoon gave the pitchers an incentive to turn on their speed.

By Associated Press.
CLARKSBURG, Oct. 5.—Suit for $50,000 damages was filed today in circuit court here against the United Mine Workers of America by H. M. Sims, local coal operator, who charges that the union has persistently refused to sign an agreement with him as a result of which he is unable to operate the Miller mine near Clarksburg, leased by him from the United Coal Company.

The alleged refusal is declared to be based on the fact that the Miller mine is still under the direction of the Hudson Coal Company which is operating the Lewis mine near Reynoldsville on the non-union basis.

600 GATHER AT CHURCH

Connellsville Military Band Leads Procession From Home to Church and Then to Cemetery; Hundred Per Cent Attendance of Members.

Six hundred persons, it is estimated, attended the funeral, service Wednesday afternoon at Vanderbilt for Private Emory L. Pratt who fell at Meusele and whose remains were not recovered until a few weeks ago. The Christian Church was the place of the funeral. A large number of the congregation were members of the military band.

It was said every member of the band was at the funeral. All were in uniform. The casket had been removed Tuesday evening to the home of Private Pratt's mother, Mrs. Kate Pratt, at Latrobe.

Accompanied the funeral party from the home to the church, the Connellsville Military Band playing. Rev. A. L. Sims, pastor of the Christian Church at Perryopolis, delivered the funeral oration. The service there over the procession marched to Dickerson Run Union Cemetery to the grave of the soldier.

The members of the firing squad were composed of Private Pratt in company with his fellow soldiers. The band also were made up of members of the company. They were Harry Means, of Vanderbilt, Robert Gibson, Harry Hinton, James Wheeler, Walter Sparks, William Beattie, Ralph Bird, Albert Peterson and John Murray of McKeesport, Frank Barley of Connellsville, and Bert Means of Vanderbilt.

During the passage of the procession from the home to the church, and from the church to the cemetery, salutes were fired from the batteries overlooking the town and cemetery by James Reed.

The members of the Legion Auxiliary turned out about 30 strong, and the band of the Legion also was well represented.

The chief of the church, assisted by William Love, R. R. Roberts and William Gray, sang.

Members of the Junior Order of United American Mechanics at Dawson also conducted a service at the grave.

SLIM CROWD TO HEAR M'SPARRAN AND PATTISON

Even Concert by Band Fails to Bring Enough to Fill Paramount Theatre.

FAITHFUL FEW ENTHUSE

A sample of the "tremendous enthusiasm" with which John A. McSparran, Democratic candidate for governor, is being received in his tour of the State was given Connellsville Wednesday night. For an hour before the candidate arrived from Uniontown, the Connellsville Military Band played outside the Paramount Theatre and nearby to help attract the crowd, yet when all that could be assembled were inside the theatre there were still vacant seats in the rear portion of the main floor, while nobody ventured to the balcony. A few stood in the south aisle, toward the front, but it was because the usher could not induce them to take seats in the rear. There were a few over 200 people out to hear a candidate for governor and others of his party.

Mr. McSparran confined his remarks almost wholly to assaults on the Republican candidate, Gifford Pinchot, "Old Man Pinchot," as he called him, head of the Department of Public Instruction, Governor Sprout and heads of several departments of State government.

When McSparran becomes governor, he told the crowd, he will even do away with detours on roads, and give the people good roads in place of the "four penny miles" of improved highways over which they now ride.

Every speaker made it plain that the next election was not to be a "party fight."

"We are not challenging the Republican party," were the words of Woods N. Carr of Uniontown, a member of the party who spoke previous to the arrival of McSparran, and every other speaker injected the same sentiment into his talk in one phrase or another.

McSparran spent considerable time, effort and breath telling the audience that "Old Man Pinchot," down at Harrisburg, was taking the money paid in taxes for the benefit of the children and throwing it away in a "centralized process." He declared that Pennsylvania is not behind other states in the matter of schools, and that the preparation in educating the child is the most important thing in the life of the child and that the parents of the children and serve to get greater sums of money from them and was merely an expense to put the public schools in a "political machine."

As McSparran wound up in his talk, he took off his coat, mounted the piano bench and jumped into Pinchot. He declared the Republican nominee was a double-crosser, not even a Pennsylvania nor a Republican. He admitted that Pinchot was a good forester, perhaps the best in the United States but failed up because the "former head" of the forestry department had spent considerably more money to prevent the destruction of valuable timber than had ever before been spent in Pennsylvania.

Preceding Woods N. Carr, with his funny stories and his old tale of how a pig caught in a fence had swayed the destinies of a nation because it delayed one voter in reaching the polls, Robert L. Patterson, Jr., son of former Governor Robert E. Patterson, candidate for lieutenant-governor, spoke. He gave his version of Republican control which was very much after the manner described by Mr. McSparran.

Candidate Patterson found fault with the fishermen and hunters fishing and hunting "leagues." He did not explain that sportsmen's organizations sponsored both laws in the legislature with the purpose of making it possible for lovers of the great outdoors to follow their favorite pastimes by keeping woodlands and streams stocked with game and fish and to the fact that these classes alone are afforded by the license system.

Mrs. O. S. Mullin of Uniontown, another member of the party, also spoke briefly. Her talk dealt with the school question.

Mr. B. F. Jones of Connellsville, Democratic vice-chairman, presided at the meeting. The gubernatorial candidate did not arrive here until 9:20 o'clock, being delayed by Uniontown. Bruce E. Sterling occupied the chairman's rights and introduced him.

Woods Fires Cause Death 50 Canadians

By Associated Press.
NORTH BAY, Can., Oct. 5.—Forest fire refugees arrived who today from Halloway reported that between 50 and 100 persons had been drowned when they were crowded from a dock where they were trying to board a rescue ship.

OTTAWA, Can., Oct. 5.—The forest fires which have been raging for 21 hours in two widely separated regions of Canada—northern Ontario and the valley of the St. Maurice river in Quebec—have cost a number of lives, destroyed six towns and, according to reports to the Canadian capital, now threaten other towns unless rain comes quickly.

North Lakered was today added to the list of destroyed North Ontario towns. It is believed several inhabitants perished. Fire fighters reported it would be almost impossible to prevent the fire from reaching other towns along the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway.

The St. Maurice conflagration was sweeping down today from the mountains to the village of St. Maurice de la Riviere, which was already surrounded by flames, and to Shawigan Grand More and Grande Pile which were covered with a heavy smoke pall.

The first relief train from Cobalt arrived at North Bay today with 500 refugees who were immediately lodged in private homes, churches and public institutions.

MUST BE NO LET-UP IN THE REGISTRATION DRIVE, SAYS BAKER

Special to The Courier.

PHILADELPHIA, October 5.—"Only no let up necessary to complete registration of voters in your district," is the dictum, delivered yesterday by W. Harry Baker, Republican State Committee chairman, in telegrams sent to Republican county chairmen throughout the state.

"It is imperative," read his message, "to make a big drive for the third and final registration day next Saturday, October 7. Pennsylvania must make this a substantial victory for the Republican ticket, for the party throughout the nation is looking to this state, as it has always done in the past, for overwhelming Republican majorities."

"As county chairmen, get busy and concentrate this week on registration. Put workers out on personal canvass. There must be no let up in this registration drive. I am counting on you to help put over a big victory for the entire Republican ticket."

Chairman Baker said he was anxious that the counties throughout the state should keep pace with Philadelphia and Allegheny counties where vigorous drives have been inaugurated during the last few days to pile up a big registration in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. He pointed out that this is the final opportunity to register and that no citizen may cast his or her ballot at the November election unless he or she is on the register's list.

In urging registration, Chairman Baker pointed out these essential facts:

All previous registrations are void. The voter must register for each general election.

The polls will be open for registration Saturday, October 7.

The voter must produce a poll tax or a state or county tax receipt.

"If you want to vote this fall for the Republican ticket headed by such able candidates as United States Senators George Wharton Pepper and David A. Reed, Gifford Pinchot, Republican candidate for governor, and for Congressional and Senatorial Legislative candidates pledged to support them and their policies," said Mr. Baker, "register Saturday, October 7."

Special to The Courier.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 5.—Federal Fuel Distributor C. E. Spens has issued an order making an important revision in his regulations, promulgated some days ago, in which shipments of coal were directed to make daily report of the names and addresses of all consignees, with car numbers and initials. The new order, which waives the provision as to this information, is as follows:

"To facilitate reporting and assure the earliest possible receipt by the federal fuel distributor of the more essential information immediately required, compliance with that provision of clause of Regulation No. II requiring the daily report of names and addresses of all consignees, with car numbers and initials is hereby waived as to all producers who shall themselves keep and preserve full and detailed records showing such facts, in such form as to enable them promptly to furnish such information as to any shipment if and when required in any particular case."

"All such producers, when reporting upon the form prescribed by Regulation No. III, may at their option omit any entry in the columns headed respectively:

"Consignee" and "Office Address"; and in the column "Car Nos. and Initials," state merely the number of carloads in each shipment."

"The 'Nature of Consignee's Business' should be designated, where applicable, as 'Steam Railroad,' 'Public Utility,' 'Wholesaler,' 'Dealer,' 'Domestic Use,' 'Industrial' (such as 'Iron and Steel,' 'Textile,' etc.), and like designation.

"In giving the 'Destination of Shipment,' state place of destination or 'Midwater' or 'Lake,' as the case may be."

"In all cases where the coal is shipped from the mine to some, to the water or lake port, for transshipment, or to selling agents or other representatives of the producer for sale and for re-consignment, the producer shall make daily report of all mine shipments upon the form required by Regulation III, giving as to each coal all of the information required by such form as possible at time of shipment from mine; and the selling agent or other representative of the producer or person acting for his account, shall also make daily reports upon the same form of all sales and consignments of coal made for the account of such producer (this latter to include all persons or agencies by whom such coal is originally sold for the account of the producer, wherever the same may be located).

"In all cases such as above mentioned, the producer will be held responsible for the prompt making of such reports by the sales agent, or other representative, or other person, firm or corporation through or by whom such coal is sold."

FATALITY RATE IN MINES SHOWED AN INCREASE IN AUGUST

Was 3.80 Per Million Tons as Compared With 3.69 in August 1931.

TOTAL FOR YEAR SMALLER

During the month of August accidents at coal mines in the United States resulted in the death of 98 men, according to reports received by the Federal Bureau of Mines. Of these fatalities 36 occurred at bituminous mines and two at anthracite operations. The total output of coal for the month, including a small amount of steam sizes of anthracite, mostly from river dredges was 25,776,000 tons.

The fatality rate for August was therefore 3.80 per million tons as against 3.69 for the same month last year. The average fatality rate for August over a nine-year period 1913-1921 is 4.15. For bituminous mines alone, the August rate was 3.75 as compared with 3.59 for August one year ago, and an average rate of 3.78 for the nine years 1913-1921. For bituminous mines alone and for bituminous and anthracite mines combined the August 1932 rate is slightly higher than for the corresponding month last year but lower than the nine-year average rate for the same month.

During the first eight months of the current year reports to the Bureau of Mines show that accidents at coal mines have killed 1,025 men, 159 at anthracite mines and 866 at bituminous mines. During the corresponding period last year there were 1,218 fatalities of which 365 were at anthracite mines and 853 at bituminous mines. For each million tons of coal mined the current fatality rate is 4.07 as against 4.09 for the eight-month period last year. For bituminous mines alone this year's rate is 3.77 as against 3.68 last year. For anthracite mines alone the 1932 rate is 7.10 as compared with 5.09 one year ago.

Falls of roof and coal are responsible for a fatality rate in 1932 slightly below the eight-months' rate last year, accidents due to explosives have decreased nearly 50 per cent in the fatality rate, a slight reduction is also noted in the rate from electric. The fatality rate from hanging accidents has increased about seven per cent while that from gas and dust explosions is about double the rate for the first eight months last year, due to seven major disasters killing 82 men in the early months of 1932. The month of August was free from large disasters.

Keeping Drinking Water in Mines Safe

The safest method of distributing drinking water for use in mines is to pipe it from its source to convenient points for use underground, says the United States Bureau of Mines. While this is the safest method, the use of containers such as kegs, barrels or tanks, is probably the most widely practiced method and is satisfactory for many mines, but it requires constant attention to prevent contamination of the water.

All containers should be carefully washed and sterilized at least once a week when the source of the water is known to be pure and fully if the water is infected or of a purely unknown. An easy and efficient way to sterilize these containers is to add one-fourth ounce of chlorinated lime to a 50-gallon container or a proportionate amount for containers of other capacity. All the containers with water and allow the mixture to stand from four to six hours. All containers should be so constructed that they may be kept tightly closed and so arranged that the water can be drawn only from a tap or a drinking fountain, or both.

Getting Square.
"You don't mind if I leave my hat on, do you?" asked the sweet young thing of the short man in the seat beside her at the pictures.
"Not at all, miss! Not at all!" replied the little man. "I enjoy looking at baggage!"—London Chatting.

THURSDAY EVENING, OCT. 5, 1934.

THE CONGRESSIONAL PRIMARIES.

The much heralded prophecy that the country is taking vigorous action to reduce the Republican majority in the House of Representatives by retiring a large part of the membership to private life, are persistently failing in their fulfillment.

Of the 298 Republican members 257 have thus far sought renomination at the primaries and all but 14 or so per cent, have secured it. In each case where a member has failed to be renominated causes local to his district not disapproval of the Administration has prevented the success of the candidate. Of the 30 Republicans who did not seek renomination as Representatives four ran for the Senate and were successful.

It is barely possible of course that some of the Republican nominees will fall of election on November 7 due to conditions in their districts, or to the individual records of the nominees on certain measures acted upon by Congress. But they will not be elected to stay at home because of the dissatisfaction with the policies and achievements of the national Administration. If that were the situation the voters would have not neglected the opportunity provided by the primaries to express their disapproval. On the contrary the renomination of 94 per cent of the Republican candidates for re-election constitutes one of the most significant endorsements ever given a president. And that endorsement will be still further emphasized by the election of a very large majority of the Republican nominees.

It will take much more convincing arguments than Candidate McSparran's lambasting and abuse of Clifford Pinchot to induce voters to believe that it will be either safe or wise to entrust the state government to members of the Democratic party whose record for prodigal expenditure and willful waste of public funds during the war forms the most appalling record in the history of governments.

If the United States had entered the League of Nations and accepted political guardianship of Armenia as the plan proposed, wouldn't we now be having a pleasant time in the Far East trying to talk turkey on long distance to the "unspeakable Turk"?

Why Suffer From Bronchial Asthma?

Simple Home Treatment Makes Breathing Easy.

Just because you start the day tired, lifeless, worn-out from loss of rest and the difficult breathing of miserable
Asthma, do not think you have to stay this way long.
Be strong and well, breathe clearly and easily again by using this simple treatment known as Oxidaze, the prescription of a Worcester, Mass., physician.

For any form of Asthma, where the bronchial tubes are irritated, the breathing short and difficult, its healing, relieving action is easily wonderful. Sufferers who can't breathe at night and who keep for a good, clear breath will appreciate the relief and comfort Oxidaze gives.

Oxidaze is a tablet made from essential oils which, when the patient dissolves in the mouth, almost immediately soothes the irritation, clears out the choked up air passages and enables the sufferer to breathe easily and get a refreshing night's sleep.

It is sold by A. A. Clarke and all leading druggists who agree to refund the full purchase price of the first package to any sufferer who does not obtain satisfactory relief. Asthmatic sufferers should give Oxidaze a trial. It is harmless and inexpensive.—Advertisement.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Conquered or Money Back

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will follow the steel and iron markets tomorrow as follows:

While the operation of the steel industry has risen from about one-half of capacity at the end of August to about two-thirds capacity at the present time, the two of mid-June have not been reached. In general, the use (with the exception of operations cooled off except on his part of the American Steel Company which is, therefore, in a position to resume work at the fairly plain making sheet bars at some plants, there is an order position, with a little coal accumulation.

Rail bookings in the recent movement seem to total well above one million tons, railroads being expected to take all the rails on by June 30. If the mills can sell them, they will have also been heavy buyers of joints, spikes and tie plates. The rail buying movement was precipitated by the mills announcing an advance from $30 to $43 effective at the beginning of this month.

Prospects as to steel consumption in 1963 are not defined. Buyers are indulged to consider their requirements taking their cue from the fact that a two-thirds operation of steel mill capacity seems to cover present consumption fairly well. It is a claimed that prices are more likely to decline than to advance, although it claims that costs are so high, higher than they were only in November, that the prices at that period cannot possibly be approached. The chief trend in the market is a contraction of deliveries, problems.

Pig lard prices continue to show a easing off tendency, not so much on account of those being in season as offerings as because commodities have been found unable or unwilling to pay prices asked on large tonnage.

High prices continue to slow an easing of tensions, not so much on account of those being in demand offerings as because consumers have been found unable or unwilling to pay prices asked on large tonnages.

Giants Take Opener From Yankees in World's Series

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—The unquenchable spirit to keep on trying when success doesn't come at first carried the New York Giants to a smashing victory Wednesday afternoon in their first clash with the New York Yankees for the 1922 title of world's baseball champion. The score was 3 to 2.

To overcome a 2-0 lead that the Yankees had acquired, the Giants, turned back in at their previous assault upon the American leaguers' defense, crashed out four successive singles in the eighth inning and then crowned their furious attack with a sacrifice fly. The four hits crushed Joe Bush, the Yankee speed ball pitcher, and tied the score. Walte Host succeeded Bush and on his fourth delivery yielded the sacrifice fly which scored the deciding run of the game.

The winning machine climbed up the hill in low speed. Early in the game when Bush and Art Nehf, the Giant southpaw, were fighting a scoreless duel, the Nationals couldn't score with two successive singles. In the seventh inning they banged out three one-baggers in a row and again failed to score. The Giants simply went back in the eighth inning and kept pounding out bingles until it was impossible for the stubborn Yankee defense to prevent them from crossing the plate.

Babe Ruth, the celebrated home run swatter, swung violently at the ball all afternoon. Nothing that even left an impression that he could hit a home run came from his heavy bat but he did bang out a single that broke through the monotony of the early scoreless innings which Nehf and Bush imposed upon the batters.

Ruth's timely clout came in the sixth inning. Whitley Witt, the Yankee center fielder, had slung a triple into left field and had been in down when he tried for home on a blow to short from the bat of Joe Dugan. As Witt lost in his chase to the plate, Dugan galloped on to second base and from there he was sent in with the first run of the series when Ruth bounced a short single into right field.

In the next inning the Yankees got their second run. Bob Meusel singled past Heine Grob. Wally Schang laid down a bunt to put Meusel along to second but before the Giants got through playing with the bunt he had reached third.

Nehf, in picking up the soft tap that Schang laid in front of the plate, decided to try to catch Meusel at second instead of being satisfied with the out at first. He threw the wild and the ball went past the second baseman and into right field. There it was "bumped by Young. This lapse permitted Schang to reach second while Meusel went to third. Aaron Ward then lifted a fly almost to the center field bleachers and Meusel trotted home. Neither Nehf nor Bush was able to snuff out the job he began. Lard was suffering from a stone bruise on the heel. For six innings it appeared that like Achilles they had only this one vulnerable spot. But these appearances did not deceive the men hired to hit for John McGraw and Miller Huggins.

Nehf, in mixing his slow ball with his speed, served in a baffling manner had the Yankees fairly well under control until Witt broke through with his triple. McGraw removed him in the seventh for a pinch hitter, Earl Smith, who went to bat after the Giants, with one out, had filled the bases on successive singles by Kelly, Stengel and Snyder.

At this point came one of the big moments of the game. Smith, coughing down like a golfer about to putt, bled his time until the count stood three balls and two strikes. The Giants were two runs behind. Bush flung the next ball straight over the plate. Smith hit to Scott at short, who threw to second, starting a double play that at once smothered a Giant assault. It was from this set back that McGraw's men—Dugan, Grob, Frisch, Meusel and Young—came back in the eighth inning and pounded out the hits and sacrifice fly that brought victory.

In the field, the Yankees played perfectly from the start to finish in a smooth steady manner. The Giants were different. Their defense was made up of flashes and flaws alike. Young made two errors, one of them costly, but he also won the cheers of the crowd for his catch and throw of Scott's hard line that came in the fifth inning with Yankees on first and second. Young slid to the ground as he caught the drive at his shoe tops but, rising quickly, he threw it to second where a mere touch of Frisch's foot to the bag was enough to complete a double play as Bob Meusel, striking Scott's blow a clean hit, had never stopped running toward home after leaving second.

Bencroft, too, was a hero in the field. In the third he ran into center and with his back to the diamond gathered in a fly from Bush's bat. Later after Witt's triple he stopped a hard blow from Dugan's bat and by a quick return to the plate enabled the Giants' catcher and third baseman to trap Witt.

In the ninth another fine dash by the Giants' defense sank the last hope of the Yankees. Pipp had started a come-back rally with a single. Meusel slugged a hard one towards right field, but Frisch, with a fast hop and a leap grabbed it and doubled Pipp at first. Schang was an easy infield out and the game was over.

Unofficial standings show that Cleveland, Jimmy Hamilton manager, has won the pennant in the South Atlantic association.

The Philadelphia Athletics have a new catcher, Charles Rolland, a six-footer bought from the Rocky Mount club of the Virginia league.

Outfielder Red Janssen decided again to retire from baseball and quit the Houston team to take a position with an oil concern at Beaumont.

William Wrigley is going to build a new ball park in Los Angeles and says there'll be no signs on the outfield fences.

Donovan, the youthful first sacker of the Albany club, is said to be one of the real finds of the year in Eastern league circles.

HISTORY'S MYSTERIES

"WHO WAS PAMELA?"

WHEN in going through Montmartre tonight is taken to the famous cemetery in that portion of Paris they usually pause for a moment as they pass a modest headstone bearing the single word "Pamela," particularly since those which surround it are literally covered with facts and figures concerning the history of the persons who lie buried there.

"Who was Pamela?" ask the tourists, turning inquiringly to the guide. And that personage merely shrugs his shoulders, smiles and replies: "That, monsieur, is what the world would like to know—for here is the grave of a remarkable woman, the idol of royalty, the toast of France. But who she was or where she came from are questions that have never been answered."

"Pamela," continues the guide, with that quick grasp of historical data which is common to those who direct visitors in various sections of Europe, "was the name given to the beautiful child brought from England to be the playmate of the little ones in the palace of the Duc de Chartres later the Duke of Orleans. Golden haired, blue-eyed, a veritable sprite the little girl won all hearts, in spite of the fact that she was very evidently a dark mystery about her origin. There were some at court who shook their heads and shrugged their shoulders meaningly when she grew up, the girl called 'Pamela' began to make conquests which were more and more widespread but the secrecy which veiled her birth did not affect her popularity in the slightest. She was the inspiration of countless poets the cause of scores of duels and when her heart was finally won by the Irish Lord Edward Fitz Gerald son of the Duke of Leinster there were many who left Paris because they could not bear to see her married to another."

"The announcement of her approaching marriage to Lord Edward brought from London the same question which Paris had been asking for many years: 'Who is Pamela?' and in the marriage contract still to be seen at Tournay the bride is described as 'Stephanie Caroline Anne Stumm' known as 'Pamela,' native of London, daughter of William Brinkley and Mary Stumm."

"But this does not, by any means, shed the mystery surrounding this most charming creature, the governess of the household of the Duc de Chartres maintained that she was the daughter of British nobility, while the Masonic Magazine, in the issue which appeared within a month after her marriage, declared that she was the daughter of the Duke of Orleans himself. Moore in his 'Life of Lord Edward Fitz Gerald' tells us that the bride, stating that the mother of 'Pamela' was none other than the governess in the Duke's family who took such a marked interest in the girl."

"But no matter. These are only rumors—reports, founded only on gossip. 'History' which is vague in the extreme about the origin of the beautiful 'Pamela,' is only too explicit in its statements after her marriage. Lord Edward Fitz Gerald became prominent in Irish politics and, like Sir Roger Casement more than a century later, decided to cast his lot with the French against England. Accordingly, he crossed the channel and arranged for a French invasion of Ireland, only to be betrayed and hunted with a price of a thousand pounds upon his head. Those who were searching for him kept a close watch upon his wife and Lord Edward was finally captured in the apartments of the lovely 'Pamela' who sold her jewels and everything she possessed in a vain attempt to bribe his jailers. The Irish lord lived only a short time afterward, dying as a result of wounds which he received when he was captured, and 'Pamela' returned to Paris where she lived until her death at the age of fifty-seven. Even then this woman of mystery is described as admired and sought after; brilliant in society remarkable for her bewitching of fancy and play of wit—a creature born to win all hearts. Here lies what is left of her, interred under the single word that cloaked her true identity."

"Who was Pamela? That, monsieur, is a question that will probably not be truly answered until the Day of Judgment."

Up to the Minute.
"So your son Bill is going to law school?" asked a neighbor of Farmer Partridge.

"Yep," answered the farmer. "But he don't pay no attention to his books. I reckon maybe he's going to be one of these unwritten lawyers I've read about."

An Appropriate Title.

"Pekkie—I wonder why they named this picture theater the Beehive?"

Last October, writes Walter Turpin, traveling salesman of Richfield Springs, N. In seeking relief I was advised to try Jacques' Little Wonder Capsules. This I did and before reaching the hotel that night for painting I had decided to try them. I felt much better the following morning that I purchased an additional box and found that one capsule following each meal has since reconstructed my stomach and now feel remarkably well. My brother-in-law recently had an acute attack of indigestion, something that often troubled him and within a few minutes after swallowing two of the capsules he was relieved.

If you are one of the suffering ones you can still save your stomach by using Jacques' Little Wonder Capsules. Just swallow one or two capsules and you will find prompt relief. The pure gelatin covering dissolves within one or two minutes after reaching the stomach releasing the finely powdered medicines to do their effective work. One capsule aids in digesting 5000 grains of food.

If you are bothered with indigestion, dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, sour stomach, diarrhea, after eating, gas, biliousness or constipation, try this valuable prescription.

Cities Compelled To Rearrange Water
Treating Methods

SPECIAL TO THE COURIER
HARRISBURG, Oct. 5.—State Health Department sanitary engineers are being called upon daily to assist water companies in obtaining additional sources of supply or to rearrange their methods of treating or developing their water supply to meet the emergency caused by the prolonged drought in Pennsylvania.

In many portions of the State there has been no rain since July. Small springs and wells are dry while the so-called unfailing ones tapped for public water supplies are giving the water companies anxiety. Certain foresighted ones are applying to the State Health Department for help in anticipation of a water famine which they state is inevitable unless rain falls within a week.

Among the companies which have already been compelled to provide new or auxiliary water sources are those supplying Johnstown, Central City, Mahoning and the borough of Royalton. In Oil City the shortage of water is so acute that it is feared raw creek water will have to be pumped into the system. Croeson has had serious difficulty keeping an adequate supply going.

In all cases germicide treatment of the auxiliary supply of water has been provided and where it is deemed necessary warnings have been issued that all water used for domestic purposes should first be boiled.

TORNADOES STRIKE SNAG IN GAME WITH UNITED TEAM; SCORE 6-0

Coker Wins, But Only by Slight Margin; Opposition Unlooked For.

VISITORS SET THE PACE

Instead of an easy game on which to become more seasoned the Connellsville Tornadoes struck a real snag yesterday and while it did not prove disastrous it gave the Cokers a shock they will not soon forget. United was beaten but by the bare margin of 6-0 even the try for goal from place kick formation after touch down being blocked.

United started things off in snappy fashion after it appeared that the Tornadoes might trap the team looking for its own goal line. The kick off was touched by a back and before he could grasp it the players had rolled several yards back of the goal. This being the elusive ball he secured it and before being brought to effect, had reached the 15 yard line. A line plunger followed quickly by a sharp touch down. On the 15 yard line the Cokers were again surprised by a sharp touch down. This time the Red and White made a mistake. The first half ended with no score on either side. The Tornadoes got the surprise touchdown in the third period and although scores seemed possible in the fourth a change of tactics, a run straight for ball to the forward posts ended and the opportunity had passed.

The first half ended with no score on either side. The Tornadoes got the surprise touchdown in the third period and although scores seemed possible in the fourth a change of tactics, a run straight for ball to the forward posts ended and the opportunity had passed.

The touchdown in the third quarter came soon after the kick off. The Tornadoes executed the kick on 15 yards and carried it back 25 yards. United was penalized 5 yards and on attempt at forward pass failed. Foster punted to Gove who made 10 yards before being caught. With the ball on United's 40 yard line the Tornadoes began to sweep toward the goal. A lateral pass to United's Pittman yielded a half yard. Then a forward Buffalo to Pittman added five. White hit off tackle for 15 yards, making a first down. Gove punted for three and a half. Gove hit us for another yard and a half. Pittman cleared for five more, making another first down. The ball had been worked to the 15 yard line. White punted for one and a half. Gove punted then and added two and one-half. Then Gove hit off right end for he made 15 yards. United scoring, the touchdown.

DECIDED CHANGES IN GOLFING CLUBS

Numerous Innovations in Equipment for Old Scotch Game.

Steel Shaft is the Latest and Has Already Become Popular With the Rank and File.

There have been changes in golf clubs in every decade since the game began. The golf of today were forced to go out for a round of golf with weapons as old as the steel used in our army.

When the golf club and the uppearance of the club equipment. The handle is in the center and the head shorter. The first one to use these clubs was considered a feisty player. The second one was considered a feisty player.

About 1890 another change came about when the rubber coat club was first used. So-called clubs were invented and selling clubs were a bad thing. They were rubber coated and did not have to be replaced as often as the old clubs. They were a bad thing.

One day Walter J. Travis opened a tournament with his 14 year old iron club. He played well with these clubs. They were a bad thing.

Alfred was plentiful in the early part of the century and about 1900 he had 100 clubs. The ordinary club was only 10 cents.

Why Clinkers in Your Gas?

CLINKERS in coal give no heat and clog up burners. Likewise in gasoline. If gasoline vaporizes completely at 425 degrees it has less "clinkers" than at 450 degrees. The oil-combustion point of Waverly Gasoline is around 400.

Other indications of "clinkers" are stalling, difficulty, carbonizing, knocking and diluting of crank case oil.

Look for the Waverly sign when you need gas. "All Pennsylvania means" less clinkers because "Waverly" means less clinkers. Know the pleasure and economy of bet or motor fuel.
